Basketball talks about the expansion of the NBA, the situation in the wake of the NBA lockout and more. With the lockout underway, and with several other sports leagues either faring or about to experience off-seasons with no action, one would wonder what direction professional basketball will take. When did the NBA lockout start? December 21st, 2011, in a meeting between the owners and the NBPA. Why this date? There were three days left in the season. How many players are involved in the lockout? Approximately 6,000. Without further ado, here is the latest word in NBA News. The NBA start game is on January 14th, 50b96ab0b6
